THE BAG SITUATION

The Government need for bags and bag material is greatly curtailing the supply for commercial requirements. — Conserve bags. Keep them clean, free of holes. Encourage your customers to do likewise. — Offer us bags as you accumulate a surplus. State quantity, kind, brand, condition. We are, and will continue to be, in the market. Fewer bags will require utilizing full capacity of bags. Avoid ordering broken packages. Order full bags wherever possible.

KANSAS NON-IRRIGATED ALFALFA IS HARDY—IS PRODUCTIVE

Kansas-grown Alfalfa has, for some fifty years, given satisfactory results over a wide area. By official tests it yields well compared with other origins.

Grown under semi-arid conditions, Kansas Alfalfa is subjected to climatic and moisture extremes — drought, blizzard, intense heat, sub-zero cold. To survive such conditions, the plants must be hardy. Weather conditions in the state of Kansas are such as to tend to eliminate plants which cannot take it. As heaving is one of the common causes of loss in Alfalfa stands, Kansas-bred Alfalfa has the background to give it resistance to such damage.

Kansas Alfalfa fields generally are clean as to noxious weeds and the seed shows little contamination that cannot be eliminated by proper cleaning methods. Kansas Alfalfa shows no distinct susceptibility to plant diseases when compared with other origins.

Official tests have proven it a desirable origin for states as far north as Wisconsin and Michigan. Alfalfa seed of Kansas origin has led our Alfalfa seed sales in volume for over 20 years. We have yet to receive any general complaint as to its performance in our trading area. We recommend Kansas-grown Alfalfa for your district.

When buying Kansas Alfalfa, be sure it is of U. S. Verified origin. See that each bag has attached to it an official U. S. Verified origin tag.

M Brand Kansas Alfalfa seed is cleaned to high purity, freedom from noxious weeds, and is U. S. Verified origin.
